

Cameray
Child & Family Services

WORKING WITH CHILDREN, FAMILIES & INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES COPING WITH GRIEF

Friday, November 1, 2024 - 9am – 4pm

In partnership with the Lumara Society
Indigenous Wellness Program.

This one-day workshop features experts in the field of supporting children, families and Indigenous communities coping with grief and loss. It is appropriate for child and family therapists, psychologists, school counsellors, mental health clinicians, social workers, members of school-based teams, youth and family workers and community service providers. It is designed to provide specific tools and protocols for work with Indigenous People.

About the Presenters

Dr. Heather Mohan, PhD, RCC, Co-Founder & Executive Director of Lumara.

Dr. Heather Mohan is world-renowned for her expertise in grief counselling, palliative care, music therapy and arts education. She is a Registered Clinical Counsellor and Accredited Music Therapist with more than 20 years of experience working with children, youth and families who are facing illness, grief and loss.

Vernon Williams - Elder in Residence

Sgaalaanglaay, Gaamdaamaay (Vernon Williams Jr.) belongs to Kuunlaanaas Raven Grizzly Bear of Yakin Point Haida Gwaii, Vernon is a Haida Nishga. His work involves traditional teachings that have been passed down from wonderful mentors. Vernon offers brushings with feather or cedar fan for water cleansing, he leads fire ceremonies and is an artist of drum making, flutes, rattles and protection necklaces

Sophie Arkell, Art Therapist @ Lumara

Sophie is a professional art therapist that has been involved with Lumara since 2017. She facilitates art therapy sessions and workshops at Camp Kerry and throughout the year with Lumara for children and youth.

EARLY BIRD RATE:

$180

(Until August 16th, 2024)

REGULAR RATE:

$200

(After August 16th, 2024)

STUDENT RATE:

$180

(Seats available)

LOCATION:

Italian Cultural Centre
3075 Slocan Street,
Vancouver, BC

LUNCH INCLUDED
FREE PARKING

FOR MORE INFO:

Contact Roxane Veltkamp,
Executive Administrator
604-436-9449 ext. 276
admin@cameray.ca

This workshop is a fundraiser for Cameray Child and Family Services

